ABSTRACT:	In addition to over 300 works in the museum collection, the Allen Memorial Art Museum also holds the Eva Hesse Archive of over 1300 items. Hesse came to Oberlin College as a visiting artist in 1968, and in 1970, the AMAM became the first museum to purchase a sculpture by Hesse (Laocoön, 1966). In gratitude for the museum's recognition of Hesse's work, and following her untimely death, the artist's sister, Helen Hesse Charash, generously donated the artist's notebooks, diaries, sketchbooks, photographs, and letters to the museum. (She later donated many of Hesse's drawings as well.) These are preserved for research, teaching, and exhibition.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Eva Hesse was born in 1936, in Hamburg, Germany, to Jewish parents. The family fled the Nazi regime, first to Holland in 1938 and then to New York in 1939.

Hesse studied at the Art Students League, then at Cooper Union and Yale University, where she received her B.A. in 1959. Her many drawings of around 1960-64 show her working with "the shapes...with which she had always been obsessed—irregular rectangles, parabolas, trailing linear ends, curving forms and circles bound or bulged out of symmetry."

Her first sculptures date from 1964, during an eighteen-month stay in Germany with her then-husband, the sculptor Tom Doyle. Her first solo show of three-dimensional work, held at the Kunstverein für die Rheinlande und Westfalen, Düsseldorf, in 1964, consisted of thirty-six drawings and fourteen reliefs made of plaster and cord, either tightly bound or loosely hanging. On her return to New York in 1965, she began to focus and clarify her forms and to work on a large scale. That year was her first period of great productivity and achievement; her earliest significant sculptures—Laocoon, Metronomic Irregularity, Ennead, and Hang-Up—were completed in 1965-66, and her work appeared in two important group exhibitions: Abstract Inflationism and Stuffed Expressionism (Graham Gallery, New York, May 1966) and Eccentric Abstraction (Fischbach Gallery, New York, October 1966). Both exhibitions were organized by Lucy Lippard, Hesse's early supporter and most astute critic.

From 1968 onwards she worked frequently in fiberglass, producing some of her most daring attenuations of sculptural "structure," as in the hanging, tangled fiberglass of Right After (1969, Milwaukee Art Museum). She was included in Robert Morris's Nine in a Warehouse exhibition, held at the Castelli warehouse in 1969, and the important exhibition When Attitudes Become Form at the Kunsthalle Bern that same year.

Hesse became ill with cancer in the late 1960s, and died in 1970 at the age of thirty-four. She kept a diary since her childhood, the contents of which have inspired many accounts of possible parallels between her often traumatic life and her work. Her work has been closely associated with Minimalism and Postminimalism, and though her mature career lasted only five years, she is regarded as a critical figure in the art of the 1960s.
